

EDPY 597 Curriculum Studies in the Health Sciences

Dr. Jennifer Walton is an Associate Professor in the Division of Pediatric Hospital Medicine, Department of Pediatrics at the University of Alberta. Dr. Walton completed her BScH (Biology) and MD at Queen's University, and her postgraduate pediatric training at Dalhousie and McGill. Dr. Walton completed a fellowship in Medical Education at the Centre for Medical Education at McGill University, and has a Certificate in Medical Education from the University of Dundee. Her clinical work focuses on pediatric inpatient care, with an interest in development of systems that lead to both improved patient care and educational experiences of residents and medical students.

As a clinician-educator, Dr. Walton oversees a number of educational initiatives at the undergraduate, postgraduate and faculty development levels, and is currently the Faculty-wide Academic Program Coordinator for PGY-1s at the University of Alberta. Her current interests include issues related to professionalism and the development of professional identity, clinical reasoning, and strategies to support struggling learners.